EMAILS

I had a problem with emails to Embarqmail & Centurylink customers. All my emails to these accounts were deemed to be SPAM so was unable to send to those with these addresses. I created new accounts etc but apparently this did not help. I have since discovered that it is the information I put in the emails, ie, the To line and my contact information. Apparently it is a format that spammers use. I have sent emails leaving out that information and they have gone to those I was having a problem with. As a result you might be getting emails that only have my name and not contact information.
